Mrs. LePard’s K News

THIS WEEK.....
We are really enjoying learning to read our nonfiction books. We are learning all the things that a nonfiction author does to write the story. He picks the topic, writes the words, and teaches us new things/facts. He also uses “features” to show us what is important like the table of contents, bold words, colored words, and captions below the pictures. See if any of these things are in your child’s nonfiction library book.

We picked a topic that we are experts on and are trying to use facts to teach about that topic. We are working hard to use 5-Star writing when writing the facts for our story (capitals/lower case in the correct places, neat handwriting, spaces, punctuation, and sentences that make sense).

We have been working with addition and subtraction number stories. We can write the number sentence that matches the story and we can tell stories on our own. Ask your child to tell you some addition and subtraction stories. Make sure they are using the questions “How many do I have IN ALL?” and “How many are LEFT?”

FYI.....

Valentine’s Day is tomorrow! Thank you to all the families who sent in Valentine’s cards. We are going to enjoy reading them tomorrow.

We celebrated our 100th day of school on Thursday and did lots of activities to help us count to 100. Ask your child to count by 1’s, 5’s and 10’s to get to 100!

Show and Tell is President Facts! Make sure to practice so your child remembers the facts. Have your child write them and draw picture clues if you need to. See which two presidents they will share about below.
